Customizing Creative Components

Contemporary

Blending a modern steel-welded aesthetic, the Contemporary style incorporates a minimalist design language and soft volume transitions. Luminaires with create an overall formal form, featuring gentle radii to establish and govern clear character, adding character and creating a sense of unity. The style is distinctly modern and ideal as contemporary architectural accents, yet its minimalist appearance makes it suitable for a variety of outdoor spaces.

Transitional

A harmonious fusion of classic and modern elements, the Transitional style creates a sophisticated and elegant look. The smooth lines and curved forms are inspired by the natural beauty of the calligraphy and flow seamlessly from the base to the light source. The open frame design is a subtle feature that also pays homage to the historic lanterns that once illuminated the most renowned parks in North America. The transitional design is adaptable and flexible, complementing any architectural style or outdoor setting.

Historical

The Historical style draws inspiration from the past while incorporating seamlessly into the present, featuring a sleek, modern body that evokes the classic style of historical lanterns without the need for a globe. The double-arched arms connect the fixture to the roof, creating a smooth and elegant classic silhouette. The top surface combines dome and cornice forms to add character and flexibility to the design. The design is suitable for both historical and modern settings, as it blends the past and the present in a refined and versatile way.
